Featured Speakers

Brad Barton uses his research-based substance abuse and violence prevention methods to equip youth to make positive choices. As a Certified Prevention Specialist and master magician, Brad's unique style of blending illusion with reality inspires students, educators, and parents throughout the country. Brad empowers students to see through illusions and discover their personal power to create real magic.

Ruben Baler, Ph.D. currently works as the Health Scientist for the Office of Science Policy and Communications at the National Institute on Drug Abuse. He believes that there is no doubt that information is power. The knowledge generated by addiction research in the past decade offers profound insights that could be used to greatly enhance our efforts to reduce the prevalence and effects of drug abuse and addiction among the Nation's youth.

Takara Taylor is a profound youth leader; she is currently a sophomore at Bowie State University in Washington D.C., Takara has served as a summer intern at the Department of Community Services; Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP). Ms. Taylor went above and beyond her internship duties by planning and facilitating the FACE-IT youth component, Youth Empowered to Succeed (Y.E.S.) Leadership Workshop at the Harford County Symposium. Takara, representing CADCA, also spoke on Capitol Hill speaking on how we can prevent alcohol and drug use among youth.

LaMar Hudson poet, rapper, and motivational speaker; LaMar grew up in a family that was plagued with domestic violence, alcohol abuse, and neglect, he refused to let it influence him in a negative way. He has made it a point to utilize his unique abilities to encourage, motivate, and inspire people to find goodness in all that they experience, and to make laughter and happiness a part of their daily routine.

Jeanie Jackson is the program coordinator for the Choctaw Nation Indian Tribe in Oklahoma. She is an influential speaker and uses her knowledge and research to engage youth about the deadly effects of drugs on the human heart.

Rob McKenna is Washington's 17th Attorney General. As the state's chief legal officer, he directs 500 attorneys and nearly 700 professional staff providing legal services to state agencies, boards, and commissions. He has presented the Operation: Allied Against Meth to more than 25,000 students at schools across Washington. Rob is a vital supporter of youth issues including internet safety for youth, teen dating violence, teen consumer education, underage drinking, and school safety.

"I appreciate hearing from a young adult who is just emerging out of the "youth" culture. Thank you for building a solid bridge that adults need to continuously be reminded of in order to make a change."

Highlights

Professional's Networking Soirée

Hosted by the Prevention Specialist Certification Board of Washington this is an excellent opportunity for established Prevention Professionals to get together with old friends and collaborators and for new professionals to meet others working in the field. It is a great venue to enhance your relationships and partnerships across the state.

Conversation Café

Let's bring those hallway conversations inside! We know that you all have things you've learned and things that challenge you- come and share with others as we introduce a new kind of workshop to the Prevention Summit. Moderated discussion topics will include, but are not limited to:

- Best practices: what works, what doesn't?
- Cultural adaptations: where do we draw the line?
- GLBTQ: what's gay got to do with it?

Comprehensive Extended Workshops

This year we will have extended workshops to provide an in-depth learning experience for participants. We are excited to have Dave Shavel from CADCA joining us for one of these workshops to provide a thorough training on building coalition leadership and sustainability!

What's NEW!

Youth Teams & Team Advisors

New this year; the Youth Leadership Track, we are encouraging the participation in the Prevention Summit as a team. Each team consists of youth and at least one adult advisor. The youth will be able to participate as teams to create a plan for a community project. Once back in their communities, the team can implement their plan with the tools they received at the Prevention Summit. Individual youth are still welcome to attend and will be joined with other youth for team activities. All youth must have a chaperone. The adult advisor will participate with the youth team in the Youth Leadership Track. The adult advisor has a key role in providing guidance and working with the youth to develop project plans. Please see youth info for details at <http://dasa.casat.org>.

Service Learning Projects

This year youth will participate in service learning projects in the Yakima area. Youth will experience first hand the value and power of working on a team and providing important service in the community. Participants of the youth leadership track will be assigned to either the blue or green group for the Summit.

Prevention Jam

Keep Life Fresher - This inspirational and motivational event will rally youth and adults together to empower youth and educate adults to capitalize on youth voice and take action in their communities.
